ESTONIA

Geographically, Estonia is on the north-eastern edge of the European Union, bordering Russia and Latvia. Finland is a short hop across the sea – just 80km away.

Estonia is in the Schengen Area so we have open borders with the rest of Europe.
Lennart Meri Tallinn Airport, named after our late President, has direct flights all over Europe.
Estonia has a population of just 1.3 million.

Everyone in tourism speaks good English and often German, Finnish, Russian and Swedish too!
Great food is everywhere and you can even eat marinated bear here!
No, there are no polar bears in Estonia! ☺

From 1 January 2011 the currency in Estonia is euro.
Voltage: 220-240 Volts Roads are traffic jam free.

Estonia is almost 50% covered by forest.
Estonia has over 1,500 islands.
Small size: Size is everything.
Estonia is small. Distances are short and travel is cheap.
It means you can squeeze in lots of sightseeing and activities in a relatively short period of time.

Traveling to Estonia is easy – by plane, train, automobile or boat (ferries and cruises).

As a member of European Union, we've got all the comforts of modern European country to offer.

Temperature range (average daytime):
-2,0°C in winter (may sink to -20°C usually in February) and +19.4°C in summer (may rise to +30°C usually in July).

Deadline: 15th of June 2012

TALLINN

Tallinn's medieval Old Town is known around the world for its well-preserved completeness and authentic Hanseatic architecture. Enchanting atmosphere, rich cultural scene, beautiful surroundings and plenty of galleries, cafes and restaurants to choose from: there is something for everyone in Tallinn.

Spend a day in a true medieval milieu and you will soon understand, why so many have described Tallinn Old Town as mystic, addictive and mesmerizing. Unlike other capital cities in Europe, Tallinn has managed to preserve the completeness and structure of its medieval and Hanseatic origin. Most of the cobblestone streets and properties, important state and church buildings, citizens' and merchant's residences, barns and warehouses dating back as far as to 11th century, are preserved in their original form.

Powerful defensive structures have protected Tallinn from being destroyed in wars, and its lack of wooden buildings has kept the fire damages low. But it is also crucial that Tallinn has not been massively rebuilt or 'improved' in the interest of dispensing with the old and modernizing the town. 1997, Tallinn Old Town became a UNESCO World Cultural Heritage site and is often referred to as the "medieval pearl of Europe".
